

LP: 7RAY feat. Triple Ace - Jazzy Zoetrope

„A truly great-sounding LP.“

The magic of Jazzy Zoetrope isn't to compare the two very different venues, but to revel in two very different ways to approach a purist recording.

The sound of Studio Baumgarten isn't too far away from those spectacular Norwegian churches where 2L Recordings plays—the ambience is rich and full of decay.

The live side of this album is more direct, vibrant and full of energy.

Point A, the musicians, are far closer to Point B, your ears. Listening to Jazzy Zoetrope is just as much fun as listening to Lyn Stanley's Live at Bernie's because you can learn so much from what you're hearing. This is also a truly great-sounding LP, and I can't wait to see what Pro-Ject comes up with for the next outing. If I'm lucky, I'll be evaluating it while playing it on that Pro-Ject Signature 10.

See more at: <https://parttimeaudiophile.com/2020/04/07/7ray-jazzy-zoetrope-from-pro-ject-records-the-vinyl-anachronist/>